La donne d'Ostende du coté français

La France est le pays avec la délégation sans doute la plus importante. Par ailleurs, le Français est une des trois langues parlées en Belgique, il nous a semblé bon de présenter regulierement une donne en Français.

Le talentueux rédacteur en chef du Bridgeur et champion bien connu, Philippe Cronier, a bien voulu se charger de la rédiger.

La mamie trompeuse

Ceux qui connaissent bien Sylvie Willard, médaillée d'argent hier dans le paires mixtes, vous décriront la grande championne comme une adorable jeune mamie toujours prête à emmener ses petits enfants se promener dans les jardins du Luxembourg. Si vous gardez cette image au moment de la rencontrer à la table de bridge, vous risquez de fortes déconvenues.

En témoigne cette donne, distribuée lors de la quatrième séance de la finale.

Les enchères :

Sud	Ouest	Nord	Est
Sylvie		Marc Bom	ipis
passe	$ \diamond$	passe
passe	ISA	passe	2 📥
contre	passe	passe	3SA

Ne tenant pas particulièrement à recevoir l'entame à Cœur, Sylvie profita de l'opportunité qui lui était offerte pour contrer le relais à 2. Obéissant, Marc Bompis entama donc du . Le déclarant laissa venir vers son Valet et joua immédiatement un petit \clubsuit pour la dame du mort qui fit la levée, Sylvie laissant passer dans le même souffle. Ouest rentra en main au \heartsuit A et rejoua \bigstar pour le Valet et le Roi. Sylvie rejoua alors le Valet de Cœur, le déclarant n'ayant plus aucune chance de trouver une quelconque huitième levée. 200 en Nord-Sud, on s'en doute, ne contribua pas au bon résultat des Est-Ouest.

Il semble que le bon coup ait été pris à l'enchère, l'entame à Trèfle étant de loin la meilleure pour les Nord-Sud. Sur l'entame à Cœur produite à de nombreuses tables, fournir le Valet en Sud – ce qui paraît normal – offre tout de suite une huitième levée au déclarant. Pourtant, laisser passer le premier Pique est important aussi, car on évite ainsi tout ennui au partenaire. Que doit défausser celui-ci si Sud prend la ♠Dame du Roi et rejoue le ♠As et Trèfle pour enlever la rentrée du mort ? Après l'ouverture d'I \$, il est difficile de ne pas jeter un Cœur et le déclarant récupère alors, quelques instants plus tard, une huitième levée en donnant trois tours de Cœur.

Mixed Pairs F7

by Jos Jacobs and Barry Rigal

For the 7th session of the Mixed Pairs final, while Barry Rigal was keeping an eye on the leaders on BBO Jos Jacobs had decided to have a more focused look at one of the Dutch pairs: Richard Ritmeijer and Czech-born Magdaléna Tichá. The pair have been doing very well in the Netherlands over the last few years and they have also been consistently among the leaders both in the qualifications and in the final of this mixed event here in Ostend. In the first round of the session, they had to meet the local favourites: Steven De Donder and Tine Dobbels. The deals in this stanza offered considerable scope for drama. The first deal was a fine example of this:

N/S can make 4^{\heartsuit} easily enough, but E/W have a paying sacrifice in 5 \pm .The trick was to get to game and then judge the five-level well. Quite a few of our contending pairs were on VuGraph so we had the chance to see them handle this deal (or not).

West	North	East	South
Dobbels	Ritmeijer	De Donder	Tichá
	Pass	♣	\bigcirc
Pass	2♡	3 📥	4 ♡
5♣	Dbl	All Pass

Ritmeijer did well to double 5 and settle for the certain plus score. The contract went two down but, with the hearts breaking 4-0, 5 \odot cannot be made against continuous defensive club leads/taps. Though quite a number of North-South pairs elected to bid on to 5 \odot and go down in it, +300 was worth only 56% to North-South.

Lanzarotti-Golin were West and East here; Golin opened 2 \clubsuit (clubs limited) and when Gothard overcalled $3\heartsuit$ Lanzarotti raised to $4\clubsuit$ and Golin sacrificed in $5\clubsuit$ over $4\heartsuit$ at her next turn. Gothard passed this round to Eggeling, who doubled. Cronier-D'Ovidio as North-South also bid to $4\heartsuit$ and doubled Wenning in $5\clubsuit$. Both N/S pairs collected 300 for just over average.

Where Fantoni-Riolo were North-South, Riolo pushed on to 5^{\heartsuit} over $5\clubsuit$ on the auction:

West	North	East	South
Engel	Fantoni	Vecchiatto	Riolo
	Pass	2♣	2♡
3 📥	3♡	5 🙅	5♡
Dbl	All Pass

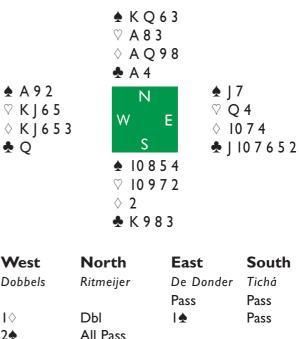

Engel led a top club, ruffed by declarer, who tried the $\heartsuit A$ to get the bad news, then crossed to the $\bigstar A$ to advance the $\diamondsuit Q$, covered all round. Now when Riolo knocked out the $\heartsuit Q$ Vecchiatto discarded the $\clubsuit K$, interpreted by Engel as suit-preference. So when he won his trump queen he shifted back to spades, and now declarer could claim the rest. Had Engel simply continued with clubs, declarer is forced a second time. She cannot draw trumps or East will be able to cash a club when in with $\bigstar K$, so she must cross to dummy with a diamond to play spades, while dummy still has a trump to cope with the force. But now East wins $\bigstar K$ and can give partner a diamond ruff.

At another table, Kowalski-Miszewska got a top score when they managed to get doubled too early:

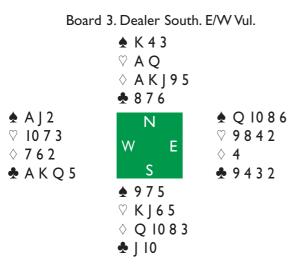

West	North	East	South
Rees	Kowalski	Cooper	Miszewska
	Pass	♣	\square
INT	2♡	3♣	4 ♡
Pass	Pass	Dbl	All Pass

When West did not lead a club but tried the effect of a diamond instead, East-West soon found out that the consequence was an unexpected North-South overtrick and, less unexpectedly, no matchpoints for East-West.

Board 2. Dealer East. N/S Vul.

Making a spade partscore would have given North-South well over average (game goes down on a trump lead with the bad club break preventing declarer from ruffing diamonds without exposing himself to a ruff.) However, when East-West bid to the same partscore, the result for North-South was a little different. They collected the same nine tricks as did many of their counterparts but for them, they were worth +200 and 88%.

The secret here was how to avoid trouble with the East-West cards. When Golin opened INT Schueller doubled and no-one had anything more to say (I'm not sure if Lanzarotti's pass was encouraging or allowing West to run, but she didn't). The defenders were unable to cash out the diamonds at trick one, but after a diamond lead and a club shift it was clear for North to shift to hearts when in with the $\bigstar K$, and that meant +800 and a complete top. By contrast Cronier-D'Ovidio couldn't double Caplan's INT opening but had almost as much fun on defence. Frisby escaped via Stayman to 2° and D'Ovidio led clubs, declarer playing three rounds of the suit in an attempt to retain control. D'Ovidio ruffed the third club and shifted to diamonds; declarer ruffed and took a spade finesse, letting Cronier win and play VA-Q. D'Ovidio overtook to draw the last trumps and then could cash out the diamonds for down 400 and 45MP/50.

Where Ritmeijer-Tichá were on defence they had to work far harder even to beat the contract they were defending by one trick.

West	North	East	South
Fusari	Ritmeijer	Basile	Tichá
			Pass
INT	Dbl	Pass	Pass
Redbl	Pass	2 📤	Dbl
All Pass

The redouble was obligatory but over Tichá's take-out double of 2^{c} , nobody had anything more to say. She led a trump, of course, which declarer won in dummy to continue a low diamond. North went up with his king and returned another trump to dummy. From this point, knowing that the trumps are 3-2, declarer should not go down, as there are five trump tricks and three spade tricks for the taking.

However, when declarer, after winning the second top trump in dummy, ruffed a diamond in hand and played a spade to the jack, Ritmeijer could win his king and continue the $\heartsuit A$, $\heartsuit Q$. When South overtook this with her king and next cashed her $\heartsuit J$, she was now able to play her last heart.

Magdaléna Tichá, Netherlands

Declarer discarded from dummy to promote North's last trump into the setting trick for a fine +200 and an 80% score. Had East ruffed high in dummy she could have drawn the last trump with the $9 and would have had eight tricks.

This deal proved to be very difficult for quite a few pairs playing reverse signals (or even those playing straight count signals). At more than a few tables North drove directly or indirectly to 4° and received the lead of the \bigstar K. Where West was forced by system to drop the ten to discourage it allowed declarer to win and take a finesse against the nine. At another table D'Ovidio dropped the nine (standard count) and when declarer ducked Cronier continued the suit at trick two - for which one can hardly blame him. -650 scored East-West just 13 MP.

Ostend, Belgium

Lanzarotti's $\bigstar2$ at trick one was discouraging (odd encourage, even suit preference) so Golin could shift to diamonds and declarer had no realistic chance for more than 620; 37 MPs for the defence.

Fantoni-Riolo bid I^{\odot} -INT-3NT-Pass and Riolo was charmed to receive a diamond into her tenace. I would have done exactly what she did, namely cash my $\diamond A$ and take my ten tricks, assuming that I would already be ahead of the field.Alas, so many pairs had let through 650 that her +630 was worth only 23/50 MP. She needed to play for the A to be onside by running her hearts and leading up to the A to make 660 for what would have been 47/50.

Absolute par here is for North-South to buy the hand at the two-level where they can make +110 on careful play. Almost all our featured pairs did very nicely here, many of them beating par by quite a margin.

Lanzarotti-Golin had an unopposed sequence as East-West: INT-2 -2 -2 -All Pass. The defenders resolutely refused to lead hearts at any of their four chances, so all dummy's hearts went on the clubs and Lanzarotti collected I 30 for 47/50 MP.

Gabriella Olivieri, Italy

Eggeling and Gotard did even better on this deal after an enterprising auction:

Gotard	Fantoni	Eggeling	Riolo
			Pass
INT	Pass	2 ◇	2♠
3 ◇	Dbl	All Pass

This could have gone one off for the well-known kiss of death, but North-South fell into essentially the same trap as we saw at the previous table. South led a trump and North returned a low heart away from his ace. South won the king and continued A and another, thus enabling declarer to unblock the A, ruff the last spade and cash two top clubs to get rid of her remaining heart losers. Just made for +670 and all the matchpoints.

Where Bompis-Willard were North-South, Willard heard the auction start $(1 \clubsuit)$ -Pass- $(1 \diamondsuit)$ to her. She bid $1 \bigstar$ and Bompis produced a cuebid raise, doubled, and now when the Wennings bid on to $3 \diamondsuit$ he doubled and collected +200 for 47 MP - the defence starting with a trump, heart to the king then a second trump to allow North to take $\heartsuit K$ and then lead a spade to his partner's $\bigstar A$.

Cronier-D'Ovidio as East-West bid unopposed to $3\diamond$ (1 \clubsuit -1 \diamond -1NT-2 \diamond -3 \diamond) whereupon Gromann balanced with $3\heartsuit$. Cronier led \clubsuit A and shifted to diamonds and declarer needed to guess spades to escape for -100, but East-West still had 31 MP.

On the first board of the final round of the set, the Dutch pair ran into some very bad luck:

Board	9.	Dealer	North.	E/W	Vul.
-------	----	--------	--------	-----	------

West	North	East	Sout
	√ 9 S ♣ 9 8
	♡ 10 ◊ 9 5
	♠ A 8	8652
 ▲ K 7 ♡ A 9 6 5 3 ◇ Q 4 3 ◆ 10 5 4 	N W	E	 ▲ 10 4 3 ♡ K J 4 ◇ A J 7 6 ▲ K Q 2
	 ▲ Q ♡ Q ◇ K ▲ A 	8 10 8 2

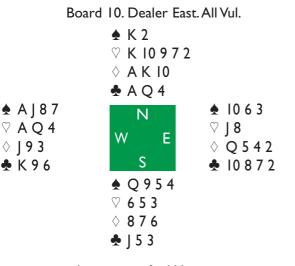

West	North	East	South
Olivieri	Ritmeijer	Zaleski	Tichá
	♣	DЫ	Pass
2♡	Pass	3♡	Pass
4 ♡	All Pass

Zaleski showed suitable faith in his partner, and with all the finesses working, ten tricks were always there for East-West; bidding this thin game was worth 96% for them. Making 10 tricks in a partscore would have been worth 71% already, it turned out later.

At another table, East-West found a curious way to a good score, with a little help from their friends:

West	North	East	South
Gotard	Рора	Eggeling	Trapani
	$ \diamond$	Pass	♠
Pass	INT	All Pass

East led the \clubsuit K. Declarer won the ace, West contributing the ten.A club came back, but now East won the queen and returned a low heart away from her KJx. West won the ace and returned the suit. East took her tricks and exited with a low diamond to the queen and king. At this point, declarer can cash out for down two, -100 and a 73% score but she tried the spade finesse instead. When this failed, the contract suddenly was four down, which gave North-South only an 8% score.

It was extremely common for West to open a strong notrump; what happened after that was in the lap of the gods. For example, when D'Ovidio was West, Sally Brock as North passed her out there, and led the $\heartsuit 10$, won by the jack. Declarer led a diamond to the nine and Brock pressed on with hearts while declarer tried to set up diamonds. Eventually, North-South collected five red-suit winners, a spade and two clubs, for down 200 and 40 MP.

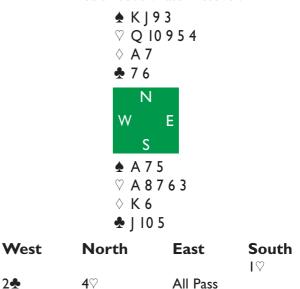

Lanzarotti as North doubled Matushko's I NT, and nobody ran. He also led a heart intermediate, to the jack. Declarer tried the ♣10 but Golin remembered not to cover and Lanzarotti won cheaply to press on with hearts. Eventually, declarer could take no more than three heart tricks and two spade tricks, since he was squeezed on the run of the hearts. 500 was almost a top for North-South.

Where Miszewska-Kowalski were South and North respectively Kowalski managed to get his partner to $2\heartsuit$ (by coincidence the par contract!). The defenders led diamonds and South passively won two diamonds to exit with a third diamond to Ulrich Wenning, East, who got out with a club. Declarer repeated the sequence of plays in clubs to put West on play. When she got out with ace and another spade Miszewska had not unblocked the king on the first round, so was forced to lead trumps from dummy. East could win the \heartsuit J and play a spade, forcing declarer to ruff in dummy and play another trump, for down one and 36 MP for East-West.

Bill Pencharz provided me with a deal from the French interclub tournament (Division II) which allowed him to qualify for the finals next weekend in Paris.

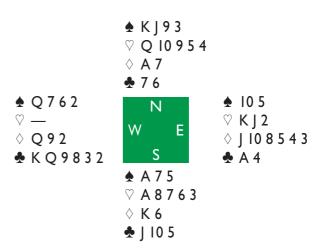

Dealer South. East-West Vul.

Plan the play in 4° on the lead of \clubsuit K. The defenders overtake with the ace and continue the suit to West's queen, who plays a third club. Do you ruff, and if so with what?

Let's say you ruff with the queen and it holds. Now a low trump from dummy sees East play the two; what next?

At the table declarer carefully took the \heartsuit A, planning to strip off the diamonds and exit with a second heart in an attempt to endplay someone with the second round of trumps. This would succeed unless West had the doubleton \heartsuit KJ and neither spade honour. All of that sounds reasonable; but there was a catch... this was the full deal:

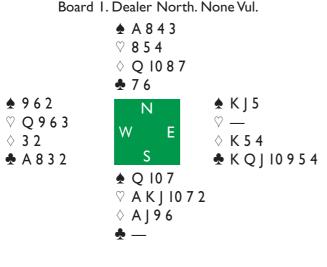

Pencharz's decision not to overruff had given declarer a problem which he did not solve. Would he have got the trumps right had East overruffed? Only The Shadow knows!

Bright Spots In A Dark Day

by Brent Manley

When you score just short of 40% in a pairs game, there's not a lot to like about your session. In the seventh round of the Mixed Pairs final, Irina Levitina and Sam Lev (USA) had a poor session, but they did have their moments.

They started well, Lev throwing a spanner into the works that made it difficult for the opponents to reach their cold game.

West	North	East	South
Lev	Gomerov	Levitina	Nokhaeva
	Pass	۱ 🛧	DЫ

Once Lev bid $I\heartsuit$, it was hard for Tatiana Nokhaeva to bid the suit without it sounding like a cuebid. As it was, she could have achieved an above-average score by raising her partner to game, some compensation for missing the cold $4\heartsuit$.

Tatiana Nokhaeva, Russia

Levitina started with the $\clubsuit K$, ruffed. Pavel Gomerov thought about his next play for some time before calling for the $\Diamond 9$, which he overtook with his 10. Levitina won the trump king, but the only other trick for the defense was the $\heartsuit Q$. Plus 150 gave East-West 60%. Plus 450 would have been worth 72% to North-South.

The next board was also good for Levitina-Lev.

With his high-card strength and chunky diamonds, North was feeling good about defending $2\Diamond$ doubled. Nokhaeva's pull to 2NT is curious, but declarer can emerge with an overtrick with inspired play. Perhaps North was put off by missing the spade contract, which is good for nine tricks (one North-South pair got a top for bidding and making $4 \clubsuit$).

Levitina led the $\diamond 4$ to the king and ace, and declarer went to dummy with a low club to the king to lead a spade up. When the king held, he could have come to three spade tricks by continuing with the $\blacklozenge Q$, picking up East's doubleton jack. Instead, he played a low spade from hand. Levitina won and cleared the club suit. Declarer played a spade to Lev's ace. Lev then exited with a low heart.

Declarer could not afford to duck with Levitina sitting on his left with a handful of club winners, so he won the $\heartsuit A$ and cashed out for one down. Plus 120 would have earned 62%. Minus 100 left North-South with 38%.

Levitina and Lev scored well on the third board, but on the fourth, the opponents took one bid despite holding 23 high-card points between them and left Levitina to struggle to find five tricks in INT. Minus 200 cost her side nearly all the matchpoints. The following board was almost as bad.

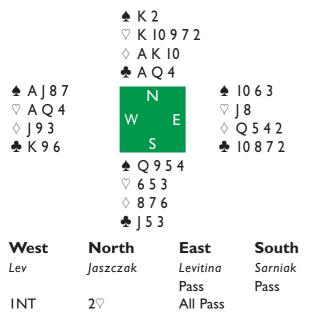

West	North	East	South
Popova	Lev	Gunev	Levitina
	\heartsuit	Dbl	Redbl
	2♠	Pass	3 🙅
Pass	4 ♡	All Pass

East led the \bigstar K, taken by Lev with the ace. As Lev cashed his hearts, Dessy Popova discarded the \bigstar 9, which cost the contract as the play went - not that it mattered much. Lev eventually took a diamond finesse, and when Popova won the king, she returned the \bigstar 10, making Lev's \bigstar 8 the tenth trick. Had she retained the \bigstar 9, 4 \heartsuit would have been down, but Lev might have played differently without the \bigstar 9 discard. Even so, minus 620 was worth 74% to East-West because at 16 other tables, East-West allowed scores of 630 or higher for North-South, mostly 650.

The best result of the day for Levitina-Lev came on the final board of the session.

Board 10. Dealer East. All Vul.

North's bid of 2° is questionable at best with both sides vulnerable. With a 15-17 INT on his right and holding 19

HCP himself, there's a good chance dummy will provide little help - and if there is a heart fit between North and South, plus 200 or better against INT seems a good bet.

Levitina started with the $\Diamond 2$ to the jack and declarer's ace. He played the $\bigstar K$, ducked all around. Next came the $\heartsuit 10$, taken by Levitina with the jack. She continued with the $\bigstar 10$, covered by the queen and ace. Lev played a second diamond to declarer's king. He exited with the $\diamondsuit 10$ to Levitina's queen, and she played a third spade to the 6 and 7, declarer ruffing.

Andrzej Jaszczak, Poland

Declarer tried the $\clubsuit Q$ next, but that was also ducked by Lev. Declarer then played the $\heartsuit K$ to Lev's ace, and he cashed the trump queen before playing the $\bigstar J$, on which declarer discarded his losing club.

The upshot was plus 100 and nearly 73% of the matchpoints.

Sign-off in diamonds or invitational balanced or 2 both minors.

3 Both minors, singleton spade.

Fusari led the \bigstar 3 (attitude) against 3NT and declarer took the jack and led a low club to the ten four and queen. Now even if the defenders had not set up the spades declarer could play the club suit for two losers. But not surprisingly East pressed on with spades and now declarer had three spades two hearts four diamonds and a club for +630 and 46/50.

The Bulgarians gave most of it back on the next deal.

Board 24. Dealer West, None Vul.

Gunev took forever before taking what looks like a very dubious action to me. Had he bid five of either minor West would have raised to 5 and now he would have been on firm grounds to bid the slam. +100 earned the Bulgarians their 20% score.

I moved on to watch Welland-Auken take on Trapari-Popa, in what would turn out to be the first of a somewhat oddly repeating theme.

Welland, with a nightmare choice over $2 \Diamond x$, passed smoothly; now could any player have been imaginative enough to run from $2 \Diamond x$ to $2 \heartsuit$ as North? I wouldn't - but here $2\Im x$ might have played pretty well and probably wouldn't have been doubled. Of course Auken led her singleton heart and Welland won the king. Trappani dropped the queen and Welland briefly pondered underleading the A - which would not have been a success - before pressing on with hearts and collecting his 500. That was worth 45/50 MP. Willard-Bompis could not even double $3\Diamond$ - though one can hardly blame them for that, given the auction:

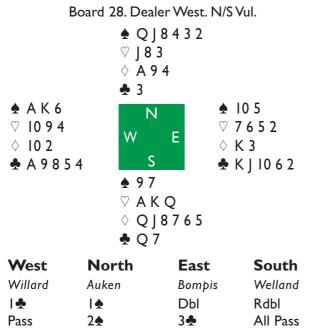

West	North	East	South
Willard	Gramberg	Bompis	Scilhart
		Pass	Pass
♣	$ \diamond$	2 ♠ (Fit)	Pass
Pass	Dbl	Pass	3◇
All Pass

I suppose you could make an argument for West doubling 3° but she was just happy not to have to put her dummy down, I suppose. +300 was still worth 39 MP for East-West.

By now the defenders ought to have been ready to take their two ruffs with singleton facing ace-king fourth.

One can have a little sympathy with Bompis' inferential $4\frac{1}{2}$, which ran into the buzz-saw of the diamond ruffs to lose 500. However a simple preemptive $3\frac{1}{2}$ (or $4\frac{1}{2}$?) at his first turn might have avoided all that unpleasantness. I2 pairs duplicated the -500 to give East-West as many as II MPs. Bompis recovered those matchpoints with interest.

Between them Auken and Welland did not do justice to their combined assets; one can attribute blame where one wants, but I charge South with most of it - unless the pass of 3^{\heartsuit} was forcing? With both 3^{\diamondsuit} and 3^{\bigstar} relatively easy to bring home, defending to 3^{\bigstar} for -110 gave North-South just 10 MP.

It is a 'tribute' (strike out this word and substitute a more appropriate choice) to the North-South pairs in this field that despite the fact that East bid hearts at most tables, 23 of the 26 tables bid to 3NT here. Not the worst contract in the world - as evidenced by the fact that 12 pairs made it and only 11 set it. The lead of a small heart by East is not so attractive if North has shown four hearts, is it? Against Bertens Trapari (who had passed over 1NT as East and heard Verbeek use Stayman) led the \bigstar J. Declarer won and immediately took a club finesse, relying on the defenders to shift to diamonds if it lost. That was painless +720 and 50 MP.

Championship Diary

In moments of despair (we get quite a few of those) we generally turn to music. This tune, from the film 'A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court' is a popular choice:

We're busy doing' nothing' Working' the whole day through Trying' to find lots of things not to do We're busy going' nowhere Isn't it just a crime We'd like to be unhappy, but We never do have the time

We have spotted a number of amusing typos in the BBO presentations (which is more than we generally do when it comes to proof reading the Bulletin). Yesterday's included Cornier, Fretin, Goblin & Arnolde. (Cronier, Fredin, Golin, Arnolds.)
