♦J1098		5432
♣Q		6
	♠74
	♥62
	♦6
	♣KJ1098753

South is declarer in 5♣. West leads ♥K.

1	♥K,A,7,2
2	♥3,8,♣3,♥10	revoke
3	♣5,Q,A,6
4	♥4,9,♣9,♥	revoke

South now plays 4 more rounds of trumps and west doesn't know it but still is squeezed in ♥/♦. South manages to win all 13 tricks, but has to show his ♥6 for that. Now his revoke becomes clear. What decision to make?

	♣KJ32

South plays 3NT. West starts with ♠9, east plays ♠2. South plays to ♥A and continues with ♥K on which west revokes. South cashes the ♥Q and west revokes again. Then ♦8 for the ♦J in west. Then ♦K for south's Ace and south leads ♦10 for east's Q. Club to the Q and another trick for the ♣A. South is 1 off. Now the double revoke by west becomes apparent. TD.

South is declarer in 4♠. West starts with ♠7 and east returns a spade, won in dummy. From north ♦6 for west who continues diamonds ruffed in dummy on which south discards ♣6 (revoke). A club from dummy for Q and K and west plays another diamond. North a small ♥ and ruffed by south (second revoke). Now south plays one round of trumps, in North a small ♥. A heart finessed, a club ruff, a heart to the ace and two free clubs in dummy for an astonishing 10 tricks.
